Professor of american english

About me

A Professor of American English (with 28 years of teaching experience) is seeking permanent employment in an academic institution preferably headed by a male administrator (I would not be bothered by lady bosses!). I am also available for temporary assignments as a private tutor for adult learners. I would prefer to discuss my professional background, job performance record, and the commensurate salary during the job interview with a prospective employer (I consider this kind of information to be strictly confidential and irrelevant to other applicants for the position).
