Финансовый аналитик/Экономист

Despre mine

Beginning with my university studies, I have actively participated in many different programs and academic events. At one point in time, I was a co-founder of the "Russian Club" at my university, which gathered most of the Russian speaking students as well as international, who had great interest in learning about Russian culture. As a vice president of the club, I had to greatly contribute to the organization of cultural events, workshops and language learning classes.

I am proud of the fact, that I did a lot of volunteer work for social wellbeing. I am a giving person who fight for a better world. I have volunteered for some Canadian fundraising companies, as well as during Vancouver 2010 Winter Olympics. I have earned certificates, given to me for providing outstanding service.

I am considered a fast learner and always strive for excellence in my job performance to become an effective employee. From my professional engagement, I have acquired a working knowledge of financial analysis and accounting, during internship at EY. I have effective written communication skills developed while preparing intelligent, coherent, and understandable reports and memos for Savings bank of Russia. I am proficient in QuickBooks, SAP, MS Excel, Word, PowerPoint.

I have also had a successful business development experience as a sales manage and project manager, consistently meeting and exceeding targets. I have a strong business sense and great passion for new achievements.

I live a healthy lifestyle and always try to be active. I am more into winter sports. I practice cross country skiing on a professional level and occasionally play hockey. If you company hires me, I would certainly like to engage in corporate sporting activities.
