Affiliate Manager

About me

I bring extensive experience across European Union and South American markets, leading IT, non-profit, and cross-industry business ventures. Fluent in three languages, I excel at building strong professional and personal relationships with individuals, business owners, and executives across diverse sectors.

As a Freelance Contributor – Geopolitical & Security Analysis, I specialize in delivering in-depth geopolitical analyses and reporting on key security, economic, and strategic developments in the Black Sea region and beyond. My work involves researching and writing comprehensive reports that offer insights into regional conflicts, international implications, and security policies, with a focus on NATO and EU strategies.

With dual citizenship in Moldova and Romania, I have the flexibility for international business engagements, enabling seamless travel to 150+ countries and unrestricted work within the EU. Proficient in SimilarWeb, Trello, and Asana, I thrive in fast-paced environments, driving projects to success through strategic management and innovative solutions.
